Educators to Answer Text Probe

Committee Seeks State Textbook Info in County

Every elementary school superintendent and principal in the county will be interviewed during the next few weeks by representatives of the Contra Costa County Citizens Textbook Survey Committee, the recently formed group announced.

"We want to complete this part of our study in time for presentation to the current sessions of the state legislature," stated William Zion, chairman. "Therefore we called meeting of our interview team Tuesday to get started."

THE PROGRAM is aimed at determining the factual picture in this county's schools as it relates to the question of the state textbook system.

Included are: Amounts spent by local schools for books in addition to those supplied by the state; delivery, availability, physical quality, usage, etc., of state books as compared to those purchased locally direct from the publishers; and preferences of local school officials as to the various alternatives for supplying textbooks.

"These are questions which were never satisfactorily answered during the recent textbook controversy. We hope that by digging out complete answers on one typical county we can shed some light on this vital educational problem," Zion pointed out.

"OUR COMMITTEE has had the generous assistance of local school administrators and trustees in working out our program, and we are now gratified to find so many interested citizens willing to pitch in on this big interviewing job."

Zion added that the textbook group was pleased with the recent proposal of the State Board of Education that a year-long joint study of the problem be undertaken.

"However, we hope this will not delay action by the legislature on any specific improvements that can be made now in the provision of textbooks," he commented.

Other members of the textbook group's steering committee include: Mrs. Robert Adams and Mrs. Hal Bates, Lafayette; Tom Curtin, Richmond; Mrs. Ogden Kiesel and Mrs. Kay McGuire, Orinda; George Gordon, Martinez; and Mrs. Aldine Marshall, Pittsburg.

THE TEXTBOOK survey outline as prepared by the group contains the following questions:

1. Information to be obtained from district superintendent (by grade and subject, where appropriate).

2. Amounts spent for supplementaries? For the last three years if possible, otherwise for fiscal 1955-56; should include such items as supplementary readers, health and science books; should exclude such items as supplementary classroom reference books, dictionaries and library books.

3. ARE THE state books and textbooks (locally purchased) that go with them always available, particularly toward the end of the adoption period?

4. How long does it take for delivery of the supplementary books after they are ordered from the publishers?

5. Information to be obtained from each school principal (by grade and subject, where appropriate).

6. Are there any books you are now using as supplementaries that your teachers would prefer to use as basic texts?

7. Is the physical quality of the books printed by the state comparable to those printed by the publisher? If not, in what way? (paper, printing, illustrations, binding, durability, etc.)

8. IS THE STATE adoption period satisfactory?

9. Which of the following systems is preferred, assuming the present level of state textbook financing for such alternative:

a. Present system.

b. Multiple state adoption selected from among all books on the market.

c. County adoption.

d. District adoption.

e. Is the district's enrollment under 800; 800-2000; 2000-4000; 4000-6000; over 6000? (Since districts are anonymous, this is to indicate size.)

Committees Report To Orinda Chamber

In the absence of president Merle Brown, vice-president Maynard Buehler presided at the Tuesday noon meeting of the Orinda Chamber of Commerce at Casa Orinda.

The members heard committee reports from members of the chamber who attended recent meetings of the Orinda Association.

Esther Johnson Selected As Representative Twice

By BOB ROSS

When she speaks about teaching and children, you are at once impressed by the depth of her regard and affection for both the teaching profession and, even more so, the children.

Esther Johnson is glad she is a teacher.

"It's so stimulating and exciting a profession . . . and it provides such wonderful satisfaction for you when the children 'come through' for you in their work," she said.

A few minutes of conversation with this charming young woman, and it is easy to see why Mrs. Johnson was selected as the "representative teacher" from Orinda Union School.

THE FACT that she works at her chosen profession for well over 60 hours a week is only part of her story. Mrs. Johnson is the first to admit that she is not unusual in that respect. Long hours are a part of every teacher's career.

It is the incessant battle against time, however, that is such a challenge to Mrs. Johnson and her colleagues in the teaching profession.

Mrs. Johnson's teaching method is based primarily on a "goal" system, in which each member of the class contributes to a "class goal" and simultaneously works toward "individual goals" in order to develop themselves personally and as responsible members of the group effort.

"It is important to instill a sense of responsibility, both to themselves and to their class and others," said Mrs. Johnson.

"I try to make each pupil feel a sense of accomplishment in reaching his goals."

LIKE MOST of her colleagues, Mrs. Johnson has been continuing her own education in her away-from-teaching hours.

Recently she earned two graduate credit units for completion of a course labeled Geography in the Elementary School Curriculum at the San Francisco State College extension school at Acacanes High School. These two units, of course, require a good deal of outside preparation. This means more time consumed; but because the course is designed to help her improve herself as a teacher, Mrs. Johnson was only sorry she couldn't take more courses.

In light of the subject of teachers improving themselves, Mrs. Johnson expressed her approval of the in-service training program under the direction of Orinda Superintendent of Schools Joseph L. Sheaff and Assistant Superintendent Philip Lambert.

Mrs. Johnson has also been selected as a representative of Orinda Union School by Principal William Gaskell to the Superintendent's Cabinet, which consults at monthly meetings with officials of the Orinda School District and invited administrators from the Contra Costa County School Department.

The cabinet was designed to assist school administrators in formulation of a working policy for the schools through a better understanding of the problems which arise in the classrooms.

THIS CABINET is another example of the forward thinking which characterizes the Orinda School District, and it is this type of progressive administration which is very helpful in propagating more interest in teaching as a profession, Mrs. Johnson believes.

"The school administration here in Orinda is extremely good. They are constantly on the lookout for means to improve the entire school program," she stated.

Another method of interesting young people in a teaching career is to "continue building the public's interest in schools. The more often the public looks into the subject and begins to recognize the problems, the more young people are likely to see it for the desirable profession it is."

"Here in Orinda the people are especially wonderful in that respect. The parents have been wholeheartedly cooperative in almost 100 per cent of the cases I've encountered; and that is so important to a teacher."

When parents realize that they must place their complete confidence in their child's teacher, it makes our job so much easier. The parents must have confidence in our abilities as educators in our abilities as educators.

Library Building Group Prepares To Select Plans

The Orinda Library Board building committee, headed by George Hauerken, is expected to report soon on the choice of an architect for the proposed new Orinda branch library building.

Sufficient funds have been secured through the efforts of the major contribution drive, under the chairmanship of Walter N. Boysen, the library group is proceeding with due haste.

Several bids from architects have been submitted to the library board, which is a volunteer citizens group dedicated to the task of supplying Orinda with a library of its own.

Currently, the Orinda Library is housed in the basement of the Orinda Community Church. These quarters have proved inadequate, so the citizens group formed for action in the matter.

They fostered the Orinda Library Building Fund, headed by general chairman Perc S. Brown, in an attempt to secure necessary funds, property, etc. for a building.

The library board fund drive has been under way for several months. A building site has been secured from the Orinda Association at the Orinda Community Center grounds.

As soon as the local community group furnishes the building and equipment, the Contra Costa County Library will supply the local branch with books and personnel.

The Orinda Library is an official branch of the county library.

The major contribution fund drive will continue its efforts in the months to come. The amount raised so far is only the minimum required for the board to go into the building stage.

Red Cross Goes Over Halfway In Drive Here

Robeson E. Smith, Orinda campaign chairman for the current Red Cross fund drive, announced yesterday that Orinda "has passed the halfway mark" in its efforts toward the goal of raising $7000.

He also expressed congratulations to Mrs. Ray Devin, Rheem-Moraga Canyon area chairman, and her workers for having gone over the top in that area.

The Rheem-Moraga-Canyon goal was $350.

"With 10 days left for the drive, and with bad weather having been experienced at the start early in the month, I'm sure we will go completely over the top in the Orinda campaign," Smith said.

Gifted Children Will Be Subject Of Special Study

"What about Orinda's gifted children?"

This is a question to be raised by the Parents' Curriculum Committee next Wednesday at their March meeting.

Scheduled for 8 p.m. in the Pine Grove School library, the meeting is open to all interested Orindans, according to committee chairman, Mrs. F. C. Newman.

"In Orinda we are fortunate in having an unusually large proportion of highly talented children," said Mrs. Newman. "Our committee believes this means a special obligation to give these children every chance to fulfill their great promise."

At a special meeting last week which was attended by over 65 parents the group reported on their proposed adoption of a "dual-core" program for Orinda's 8th graders. The meeting was planned in response to parents' requests.

The curriculum committee, with representatives from each of Orinda's five elementary schools, was formed a year ago to work with Orinda school administrators in maintaining high curriculum standards.

In addition to Mrs. Newman, the committee consists of: Mr. and Mrs. Louis Ambler, Mr. and Mrs. Kirk Miles, Mr. and Mrs. Avram Yedidia, Mrs. John Glascock, Mrs. Peter Joralemon and Mrs. D. D. Scarff.

Specialty Shop Opens in Orinda

Newest addition to Orinda businesses is Adele's Forget-Me-Not Shoppe, located at 224 Brookwood Road, Orinda.

The new store is owned and operated by Adele Kiernan and will specialize in unique jewelry, special driftwood items and special azaleas.

In addition to operating her store, Mrs. Kiernan, whose hobby is gardening, takes care of her home, husband Jack and two younger children, Danny and Pat.

An older daughter, Frances, is married and living in Pleasant Hill.

Pat Kiernan was Orinda Fiesta Queen at the community celebration of completion of the Orinda interchange.

Planning Group Will Try For Master Plan Adoption

By JULIUS ROSENTHAL

Efforts toward county adoption of an Orinda master plan will be a major objective of the Orinda Association's Planning Committee, Dick Bartle, committee chairman, stated Monday night.

Bartle, recently named as the new head of the Planning Committee, made this statement in a brief report to the Civic Affairs Committee of the Orinda Association at its meeting in the Orinda School auditorium.

"Also, we're trying to help the association board formulate some policies regarding planning for Orinda," Bartle continued.

"We're concerned with maintaining the residential character of the community."

INCORPORATION also was discussed by Bartle, on behalf of Ted May of last year's incorporation study committee.

"We want everyone to be informed," Bartle declared. "Members of last year's incorporation study committee are willing and able to help."

The association board is pushing the drive for more signatures on petitions asking the County Board of Supervisors to schedule an election among Orindans on whether or not Orinda should be incorporated as a city.

However, the current association board has not gone on record either for or against incorporation.

This is in contrast to last year's board, which was in favor of incorporation.

LAST WEEK May, Bartle and three other members of last year's incorporation study committee—Paul Pollaczek, Frederick Rust and Willard Neill Porter—declared, in a letter to Association President W. E. Estes, that "incorporation is more feasible now than we found it in our study last year."

This argument was based mainly on the county sales tax payments now being made by Orindans entirely to the county, but from which, according to the letter, "the State Board of Equalization estimates that an incorporated Orinda would receive at least $45,000 a year . . . taxes in the 1957-58 fiscal year and about $67,000 in the following year."

Hope Dies for State Aid In Railroad Buy

Supervisors Nay Transit District On Rail Line Buy

The Contra Costa County Board of Supervisors decided Tuesday not to join the Alameda-Contra Costa Transit District in its efforts to purchase the right-of-way and track of the now defunct Sacramento Northern Railroad.

The decision followed a report presented to the board by Desmond Teeter, county administrator. In his report, Teeter stated that Sacramento Northern officials had told him "that a portion or the right of way will revert to the original property owners. No portion of the train track could stand train traffic of over 40 miles per hour and most of the commuters live too far away from the line for it to do them any good."

Teeter said that the City of Oakland is eager to have the tracks removed from within its city limits. The Sacramento Northern officials feel that the termination of commute service several years ago was one of the worst moves that the company ever made, he said.

The board had been requested by J. Howard Arnold, a member of the two county transit district to put up $50,000 to use for purchase of the railroad.

Alameda County was to have put up a similar amount, but the Alameda County Supervisors also turned down the request of the transit authority several weeks ago.

Teeter was instructed by the board to investigate the possibility of having the Redwood Canyon tunnel of the railroad closed off or fenced.

The board termed the tunnel a nuisance and a serious hazard to children.

Orindan's Home Burglarized

A "cat" burglar broke into the home of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald C. Dyer at 6 Meadow Park Court, Orinda, and made off with family heirlooms and jewelry valued at over $1000.

Amongst the stolen items are rings, watches, suits, a .32 caliber pistol, an antique key-wind watch and a sea captain's telescope estimated to be 250 years old.

In effecting his entry through the French doors in the Dyer living room, the burglar apparently cut himself. Deputy Sheriff William McAndrews theorized, because in addition to the robbery the investigators discovered a foot-square hole in the living room drapes where the burglar apparently cut a bandage for himself.

Private Finance Aid Not Likely Says Doyle

By BOB RAPIDA

"We ran out of fuel before we got the motor started," Donald D. Doyle, assemblyman, told The Sun yesterday concerning a proposed bill seeking State aid in the purchase of the Sacramento Northern track and right of way.

In a long discussion interview from his Sacramento office, the 10th district assemblyman from Lafayette, said that he had sought aid from various state departments, but found that no funds were available at this time.

"I THOUGHT at first that the state or some division of the state could purchase the track and right of way and then the Alameda-Contra Costa Transit District could pay that division once tax monies were made available to the district," said Doyle.

"It is very difficult to push an idea such as the purchase of a railway system, when the county governments are not in agreement. Furthermore there is a suit on file from citizens of Contra Costa seeking the exclusion of that county from the two county district."

"My feeling on the subject was to get a hold of it (the track and right of way) and find out if we could really use it. I contacted the president of the railroad and learned that the property is being turned back to the original owners," Doyle stated.

DOYLE COMMENTED that the reversal clause in the original right of way and deed stated that when the railroad ceased operations the land would revert to the original land owners.

"Since the railroad ended its operations March 1, it seems to me that if one of those land owners showed cause for building or use, he could build or plow or do anything he saw fit," Doyle opined.

The Sacramento Northern is under a $100,000 bond to repave the streets within the Oakland City Limits by September 1.

"AS FAR AS I can see the overall picture, any hope of the State providing the money for the purchase of the railroad is now dead."

"There is nothing which I can see that can be done on the State level," Doyle exclaimed.

"At one point, I thought that perhaps the Toll Bridge Authority would be interested in the purchase of the right of way and track but since they do not seem to wish to extend train service from the Bay Bridge to west Lafayette, that source of revenue is out," he continued.

ASKED if private finance or industry might be interested in the purchase of the line Doyle said:

"With the exclusion suit in the mill and the two counties not in general agreement, I don't think that private industry or finance would touch that railroad. If it ever went to the courts it might be years before a private company could ever begin operation."

"Another major problem is that each of the land owners must be reached and each must agree to the proposed use of the right of way. The equipment may be purchased in one fell swoop but each parcel of property must be dealt with independently," Doyle explained.

"As I see it there are just too many problems to be surmounted to get the state aid, which is now dead, was a last ditch stand to get money for the purchase of the Sacramento Northern for commute use," Doyle concluded.

Civic Affairs Poll Favors End To PIE Fight

In an informal poll, delegates to the Orinda Association's Civic Affairs Committee Monday night expressed overwhelming sentiment in favor of dropping any further court action against Pacific Intermountain Express Company's plans to erect a $750,000 headquarters office building at the Pine Grove.

To be reported to the association's Board of Directors next Monday night, at the board's 7:30 meeting at Orinda School, the views of the delegates were announced as follows, after general discussion:

FOR DROPPING any further legal action in the PIE matter—16.

For continuing the court fight—6.

Abstaining—6.

The Civic Affairs Committee met in the Orinda School auditorium.

SUPERIOR JUDGE Allen Norris of Alameda County, who was assigned to the case after all Contra Costa County Superior Court judges had disqualified themselves, announced February 15 that the Orinda Association's injunction against PIE, to prevent the firm from building the contemplated headquarters, was denied.

The association directors and its attorneys have voiced a desire to await the judge's written ruling before deciding on the next step. The attorneys are Nathan Engelberg and Gladys Schwacht.

"THE EXPRESSION tonight is the result of informal discussion," Chairman Ralph C. Hall of the Civic Affairs Committee said.

"We will pass the information along to the board."

Some of the delegates said they spoke for members of their organizations whom they had contacted, while others stated they were merely voicing their own personal views.

70 Enroll in Defense Course To Start Monday

In an address before the Orinda Mothers Club Tuesday morning at the Orinda School Auditorium, William Ward, county civil defense director, emphasized that "no one can feel free today from the effects of modern warfare."

Ward accompanied his talk with a movie, "Escape Route."

Ward urged a large turnout for the civil defense course which will start next Monday at Orinda School Auditorium.

The free four-hour course will be given in four weekly 2-hour sessions, from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. each session.

About 70 signed up for this course. Mrs. Eleanor R. Daly, information and education coordinator, Contra Costa County Office of Civil Defense, will be the instructor.

Gas Operators Stick to Lower Prices in County

Gasoline service station operators this week continued to glare at each other across improvised signs proclaiming 29.9 cents for "regular," in the central county area.

Whether the price at each station was 29.9 or 30.9 for regular oil depended on how near competitors were, and what price they set.

The price of ethyl gasoline had also dropped slightly. Some stations in Walnut Creek and Pleasant Hill dipped to 33.9 or thereabouts, while others held to 35.9. In Orinda, most stations held to 36.4.

The word is that some stations in Berkeley and Oakland, where the second "gas war" in four months supposedly began, have returned to normal prices, but this is not universal.

A meeting held on March 14 by retail distributors reviewed the situation but no immediate result was obtained.

On Mt. Diablo Boulevard, some of the "cut rate" stations were selling regular for only 27.9 cents per gallon. This is the rock bottom so far in the war that's been going for about three weeks.

It began in the central county in Pleasant Hill, when one owner reportedly shaved the rates to attract more customers.

Last November there was a gas war which ended only after operators everywhere had been charging 29.9 cents per regular gallon and about four cents more for ethyl for several weeks.

British Consul Delivers Talk To Rotarians

Local Rotarians heard a speech from Sir Robert Henry Hadow, British consul general for northern California and Nevada, entitled "Russia and the Middle East" at their weekly meeting on Wednesday at the Orinda Willows.

Program chairman Carl Thomas introduced Sir Robert, who stressed the necessity for giving practical aid rather than just money to the Middle Eastern countries in our attempts to stave off the threat of communist domination there.

Sir Robert suggested it was the job of private enterprise to assist the natives to develop and "help themselves," and that government should act only in the capacity of advisor.

For their next meeting on the coming Wednesday, the Rotary will be shown a film entitled "The Story of American Whiskey."

The film will be accompanied by a talk from Frank Schuppert, a representative of the Distillery Company of New York.

A Rotary spokesman expressed the hope that Schuppert would come to the meeting supplied with samples for club members.

The meeting will be at the usual 12:15 p.m. hour at Orinda Willows.

Red Cross Will Continue Drive

Red Cros volunteers will continue their drive for funds and members during March, Robeson Smith, local chairman, said this week.

A goal of $7,000 has been set for Orinda, with Canyon and Moraga workers seeking $350, he said.

Smith, urging prompt and generous response to the current campaign, pointed out that Mt. Diablo Chapter of Red Cross does not participate in the United Crusade and depends entirely upon local contributions to carry on its many important services in the community.

One of its major programs is Home Service, giving aid to veterans and their families in times of stress.

Other activities include gray ladies, water safety, first aid, motor service, Junior Red Cross and nursing services, in addition to its primary role as the official disaster organization of our country, as decreed by Congress.

Assisting the chairman are Mrs. James H. Allen, in charge of the southwest area; Mrs. Joseph S. Eldridge, northwest; Mrs. Lawrence Collins, northeast; and Mrs. Ray Devin, heading the Rheem-Moraga-Canyon drive.

Board Asks Pay Raise For Self, D. A.

The Contra Costa County Board of Supervisors voted last week to ask for a pay increase for itself and District Attorney Francis Collins.

The board seeks to increase the pay of each member to $8400 from $7200. Collins' proposed salary is $15,000. At present it is $12,000.

The two resolutions were to be sent to the State Legislature. S. C. Masterston, assemblyman from the 11th District, has introduced a bill to that body for the pay boosts.

The legislature sets salaries for the supervisors and the district attorney in this county. The supervisors listed the reasons for the pay increases as increased work load; increased cost of living and expenses.

Alameda's board of supervisors asked for a similar pay increase recently.

MRS. JOHNSON was graduated from College of Pacific at Stockton and spent two years teaching 3rd grade at an elementary school in Inglewood, California, before coming to Orinda four years ago.

When she first joined the faculty at Orinda Union Elementary School, Mrs. Johnson taught a 5th grade class.

Two years ago she was transferred to a 6th grade class. She is currently the educational shepherd of a flock of 33 sixth graders in Room 1 at the school.

Her classroom—as one of its "class goals"—publishes the Orinda School News, a weekly newspaper produced by the pupils. This intrepid little three-page journal is sterling example of the success of Mrs. Johnson's teaching methods.

In addition to her very full schedule of teaching during the school months, Mrs. Johnson has been conducting classes in conversational Spanish for elementary school pupils during the summer "vacation."

HER SUCCESS with these classes led to her selection to a staff of foreign language teachers who were assisting Dr. Karl Schevill, head of the Foreign Language Teaching division of the University of California's Education Department and a member of the Orinda School District's board of trustees, with a weekly television program beamed from KQED.

Twice weekly, beginning in September, Mrs. Johnson would rehearse her charges for appearance on the San Francisco educational station, occasionally appearing in skits herself.

Then in January she was given charge of her own program every other week for a 13-week series.

Rec Program Is Growing Each Week

The expanded Orinda Recreation Program, under the direction of Frank Isola, has been moving along strongly in the past weeks.

The teen-age club of eighth graders from Pine Grove School now has 160 members. They have scheduled a ski trip to the Sierras for next Saturday, March 30.

The Pine Grove club is under the advisordship of Bill Hester and recently held officer elections.

THE RESULTS of that election are as follows:

President, Jonathan Jensen; vice-president, Dick Stark; secretary, Nelle Neighbor; treasurer, Steve Abbott; sergeant-at-arms, Bill Hilger; asst. sergeant-at-arms, Bob Welch.

In addition to the ski trip, the teen-agers will be shown a movie, with accompanying lecture, on safety in the snow on next Thursday. Bill McCann from the ski patrol will be the speaker.

THE PROGRAM is in full swing at Miramonte High School also. Under the advisordship of Ted Boyce, the Miramonte clubbers are having a swim party this evening at the Hayward Planet. Over 65 swimmers are expected to attend the affair.

The adult programs in volleyball and badminton are meeting weekly on Monday and Tuesday nights respectively to ever-increasing membership.

Another part of the adult group activities is the folk dancers. They have been meeting on alternate Monday evenings, and the number of participants in the "squares" has grown larger with every passing week.

THE ADULT PROGRAM meets at Pine Grove School auditorium, and is aided by Boyce, Hester, Jack Clark and Don Wacks.

Hester reports that the dog training program being offered the youngsters and their pets on Saturday afternoons is "fast approaching perfection . . . both the kids and the dogs."

Activity is at the beehive level right now, too, with the impending baseball season so close at hand.

Hester expects to have the after-school baseball activities for the youngsters organized and in full swing by mid-April.

Esther Johnson Likes Her School Charges

She appeared on seven programs during the series.

When asked about her plans for this summer, Mrs. Johnson smiled. "This summer I'm looking forward to only two things—chasing gophers in our backyard and resuming my guitar lessons with Juan Buckingham. I've been so busy the past two summers that my guitar lessons had to be foregone. . . and our yard needs a woman's care."

ESTHER JOHNSON is truly a "representative teacher." She is a representative example the teaching profession can point out with pride. A young woman of intelligence, charm, poise, wit, respect for her profession and a sincerely deep love and concern for children.

The parents of her charges at Orinda Union Elementary School can also be very proud of Esther Johnson of Room 1. They would look far indeed before they found a better place to intrust the care of the all-important eleventh year in their children's life.

Two Lot Subdivision Compromise Offered

A compromise solution to the controversial County Subdivision Ordinance 820 amendment has been supported by the planning and zoning committee of the Pleasant Hill Civic Council.

The proposed amendment is presently drawn for a two-lot subdivision would require the building applicant and not the county to show title of sale and an accurate record of the land to be subdivided. This amendment provides minimum drainage controls, said Ralph Becker, chairman of the council planning and zoning committee.

A stiffer amendment, originally backed by the council, was opposed by realtors groups and others on several grounds. The original proposal would have required a map to be filed in Martinez for every subdivision and would have flooded the department with applications, the committee chairman said.

For three and four-lot subdivisions the amendment would include a provision for minor division of land and the establishment of minimum right-of-ways. Anyone subdividing more than one two-lot subdivision each year would fall under the three and four-lot provisions.

The original intent of the amendment was to prevent "bootleg subdividing," a practice by which large land developments were made two at a time, thereby avoiding drainage and right-of-way controls of the 820 ordinance.

"This amendment is not the complete solution to our problems by a long shot," Becker said. He said that while the right-of-ways asked for in the amendment did not meet county specifications, they at least established minimum right-of-way provisions.

He told the council that continued support of the original strong proposal would have required the civic council to back it "virtually alone." The Board of Supervisors has not fought the present proposal, he added. Becker also spoke on the proposed multi-dwelling area north of Pete's Poultry to Willow Pass Road. He told the council that there is every chance that this area will be rezoned to allow only two rather than four-story dwellings.

Mrs. Helen Rice of East of 21 Improvement Club stated that garden apartments of a multi-family type would not be undesirable for the area. Becker asserted that "what we need, is multiple-residence zone of a high class character."

Irv Deutscher, realtor, also spoke on the matter of rezoning. He said the knowledge that this area would be used only for residential development "was certainly an improvement" and expressed confidence that a tighter zoning ordinance could be passed.

Bill Zion of the Lafayette Improvement Association noted that the realtors were "as concerned as anyone" with the establishment of minimum drainage provisions.

He stated that realtors were opposed to "bootleg subdivision" but did not wish to see excessive "red tape" established in transferring two-lot property.

At present, said Zion, Lafayette is not experiencing problems with rights-of-way. He added that most realtors supported the establishment of a minimum right-of-way width.

Candy-cane wire—not good to eat but very good for getting phone service to folks living in rural areas. It's a kind of cable—six pairs of brightly colored wires wrapped around a supporting core. Candy-cane wire serves as many people as six separate lines would and is much easier to put up and maintain. The colors make it easier to identify lines. Candy-cane wire is one of the many developments that helps us meet the growing telephone needs of the Pacific West.

Bruce Dillman Likes Building Scopes, Engines

Bruce Dillman of Walnut Creek likes to tinker with steam engines and he likes to tinker with telescopes, but his greatest joy is in making them.

At home, he completed a Cassagranian, 6 inch telescope about five years ago, and takes delight in sighting moon and stars, and even encouraging others in the neighborhood to start similar projects.

His advice got Dolph Swenson of Ponderosa Street started on his own 4 power telescope.

DILLMAN told the Sun, "The hard part used to be the grinding of the lens for the pioneers like Huygens, Herschel, Calvers, Rosse, Cannon and others.

"They had no way to check their work except to assemble their mirrors in the telescopes, wait for a clear night, shoot a star and then to go to work on the mirror again. This took years.

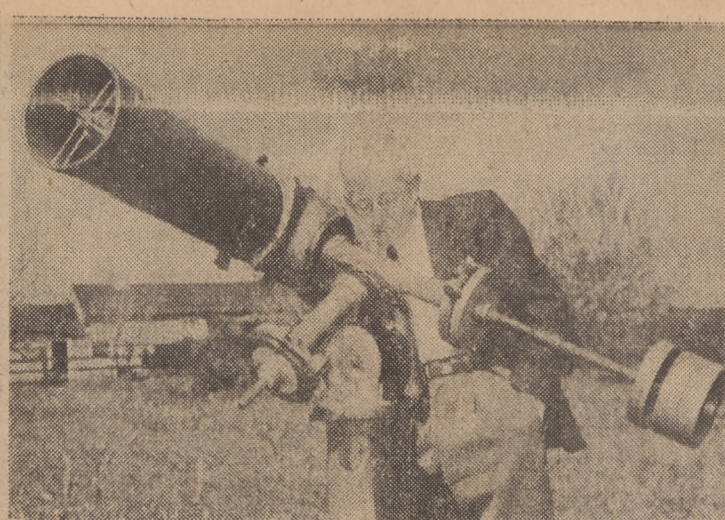

"In the later part of the 1600's, Faucault discovered the shadow test by which you could measure to a millionths of an inch.

"SO NOW anyone with a little endurance and skill can make a perfect mirror," Dillman declared.

Last year, when Mars approached nearer the earth than it had for many years, Dillman was out in his yard taking a bead through his scope on the red planet.

The width of the telescope's field of vision, and he can get only one fourth of the moon's surface in sight at one time.

Dillman lives at 1031 El Curatola Boulevard, Walnut Creek.

HIS OWN CREATION is this telescope of Bruce Dillman, Walnut Creek resident. On clear nights he likes to set it up in his yard, and take a look at the moon, stars and planets. Dillman spent some 80 hours constructing the telescope, most of the time grinding the lens. He also is interested in steam engines. —Sun photo by Don Bradley

Sheriff Brown Says Investigation OK

Sheriff Harry A. Brown and the Contra Costa County Board of Supervisors will meet in private to allow a more relaxed atmosphere in settling their repeatedly flaring feud.

Brown said he welcomed a Contra Costa grand jury investigation of his department concerning the hot-and-cold-war between the sheriff's office and the supervisors.

ALSO TO BE investigated by the jury at the request of the supervisors will be reports of low morale in the sheriff's office.

Francis Collins, the district attorney, told the supervisors that the grand jury will meet Monday evening at 7:30. He stated that he thought the full schedule of the jury would delay immediate action on the supervisors' request.

The board's action of calling in the grand jury followed an hour long discussion. Brown appeared at the board's invitation to explain a letter he wrote last week criticizing the board's plans to lease 75 acres of jail farm land to a private cattleman for $368 per year instead of assigning it to prisoner rehabilitation projects.

THE BOARD leased the land Tuesday to W. J. Morgan of Clayton with provision that the lease would be canceled as soon as the sheriff presents to the board a rehabilitation program in writing and submits it as part of his budget.

Brown's letter called the rejection of his suggestions for a rehabilitation program a punitive measure undertaken for political reasons.

Shortly after the hearing with the board the sheriff issued a prepared statement in which he commented on the morale of his department at the present time.

"The citizens and taxpayers of Contra Costa County elected me sheriff because I pledged that I would re-organize the sheriff's department and would give them the best their money could buy in police protection.

"I can prove by statistics what I have accomplished since I took office, and that I have fulfilled each and every promise made to the voters. My record of two years in office speaks eloquently by itself.

"AS FOR THE 'morale' who can substantiate where it stood even three years ago when only minimal chances for advancement were possible in an antiquated and dormant department. Who then stood to be recognized and decried morale? If the board of supervisors knew as much about police work as I do they would realize that an undercurrent of dissatisfaction is endemic in a well run police agency.

"Unfortunately it is difficult for most men to accept easily the elevation of one of their number to a top command position. Obviously a large percentage of sheriff's department have never advanced completely my advancement from a deputy sheriff to sheriff.

"It seems grossly unfair to inject the Honorable Grand Jury into such a politically inspired hassle and ask them to deliberate on such matters as part of a public spectacle.

"If morale is as bad as it is suggested by the board of supervisors' action yesterday then one can only be amazed that it has been possible to achieve the tremendous advances that have been made in the past two years; and I am sure that no one will deny that advances have been made."

Supervisor Ivan Govak said to Brown that he was the only one of 27 department heads in the county who is continually involved in heated disputes with the supervisors.

Nielsen added that Brown campaigned on a platform of better service with no staff increases but had requested 45 additional employees.

"The board granted you 16 additional employees, despite your campaign promises," Nielsen said.

"The board also granted you a patrol board, a confidential secretary, four substations, a juvenile bureau, a detective staff and extensive reclassification of jobs in your office. You have been denied nothing that you have discussed in advance and included in your budget," Nielsen exclaimed.

Philip Bancroft Jr. of Ygnacio Valley stated that the grand jury would have the supervisors' request to investigate the sheriff's office on its Monday night agenda.

Bancroft said that the investigation would probably be referred to the jury's law enforcement committee. He informed the press that he was certain no decision would be reached by the grand jury without a full discussion with Brown and the supervisors.

Public Hearings on Food Inspection Law are Soon

Each of the 1400 food establishments in Contra Costa County will be inspected every three months instead of less than once a year if the preliminary ordinance submitted for detailing to the district attorney, Tuesday, survives future public hearings by the Board of Supervisors.

A stepped-up sanitation program has been sought for five years by Dr. Henrik Blum, county health officer.

On Tuesday, he presented the "tough" ordinance to the Supervisors, with sections which call for hiring three more "sanitarians" for the Sanitation Division, also another supervising sanitarian and another typist.

THE CLERK AND the supervising sanitarian will spend most of their time in regular division business, but one third of their hours will go for inspections.

The three regular sanitarians will devote about all their time to inspections.

Blum said that the new program may cost about $40,000 per year. Undecided is whether the funds will come from inspection fees or from the county treasury.

An addition to the ordinance was suggested by Supervisor W. G. Buchanan.

He suggested that temporary roadside stands that turn up in the summer be inspected, in addition to regular food dispensing units. This is reportedly the result of certain objections voiced by grocery interests. How much this would increase costs was not estimated.

MRS. DWIGHT Birch, of 977 Hawthorne Drive, Lafayette, said from the audience that she had expected that the ordinance would be passed this week, and this looked like a "Thirty-day delay treatment."

She spoke as public health director for the 32nd District Parent-Teachers Association.

Supervisor Ivan Govak told her that the legal procedure requires that further public hearings be held after the ordinance is compiled in its final form by District Attorney Francis Collins.

Group Opposes Reservoir Area

Directors of the Contra Costa County Development Association today went on record as opposing proposals that 1600 Cowell acres and 6500 acres of the East Bay Municipal Utility District San Pablo reservoir area property be acquired by county and state for park purposes.

Association action came after a report by Joe Ragusa of Diablo, co-chairman of the association's recreation committee. He told President Hal Saunders and directors that the association now has an industrial prospect for the Cowell property, a portion of which has long been in industrial use.

Ragusa stated that there is also a movement to acquire Tilden Regional Park, Round Top Park and Redwood Regional Park.

Proposals for acquisition of Redwood Canyon, acquisition of the Franks Tract in eastern Contra Costa County, expansion of Mt. Diablo state park, the development of a half dozen waterfront recreation areas with public funds and the county's purchase of 1435 acres of EBMUD and in Briones Valley for park purposes, have been made.

Free Polio Shots--Where, When...

County Health Department immunization centers in Central Contra Costa County where free anti-polio injections can be obtained were announced Monday night at the meeting of the Orinda Association's Civic Affairs Committee at Orinda School.

The announcement was in the form of a communication from the County Health Department, Mrs. Charles Erickson, president of the Orinda Mothers Club, pointed out that polio shots are being urged for children and for all adults through the age of 40.

Except where otherwise noted, the Health Department centers also give shots against tetanus, diphtheria and other diseases.

The schedule is as follows: Lafayette — Veterans Memorial Building, Mt. Diablo Boulevard, the first Wednesday in April and May, 1:30 to 4:30 p.m.

Walnut Creek — St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Parish Hall, 1924 Walnut Avenue, the fourth Wednesday each month, 1:30 to 4:30 p.m.

What is a Realtor? Lots of People Ask This Question!

"Just what is a Realtor?" is a question often asked by persons who are entering into the complications of real estate transactions for the first time.

The question has become of even greater interest on the local scene since the Contra Costa Real Estate Board, whose members are "Realtors," will be host to other boards, and the presidents of both the National Association of Real Estate Boards and of the California Real Estate Association — respectively, Kenneth Keyes and Mortimer Clark.

The occasion will be a luncheon Tuesday noon at the El Nido.

THE ANSWER to the question, "What is a Realtor?" was answered last September during the Realtors' state convention in San Francisco.

A top official was quoted as follows: "Who is he? The Realtor is trained and experienced in the field of real estate. . . . He knows property values. . . . and he has an intimate knowledge of his area and the real estate market in his area.

"Through his local real estate board, he is a member of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, largest organized real estate group in the world, and sponsor of a rigid code of ethics applicable to real estate transactions — by which all realtor members abide.

"HOW CAN HE help you? The Realtor in your community best understands the complexity of financing and real estate procedure. . . . he knows what you will require in a home or a real estate investment — and knows where to find it for you.

"These are some of the many reasons why you should have a realtor help you select your home.

"Buying real estate is probably one of the biggest investments — if not the biggest — that you will ever make.

"It is therefore only common sense for you to seek the advice and assistance of a real estate specialist in making that investment.

Committee Approves Handout Curtailment

The State Assembly's finance and insurance committee has unanimously recommended passage of legislation designed to curtail insurance "handouts" presently okayed by California laws.

Introduced by William Munnell of Los Angeles, AB 1214 would prohibit many legislators or state employees from collecting commissions on state insurance.

The bill was sent to the assembly floor with a "do pass" recommendation.

HOWEVER, THE COMMITTEE bill exempts from the provisions all lawmakers and state employees who are attorneys, real estate men, or in other professions. Many of California's legislators are attorneys.

An amendment to the bill by Jack Beaver of Redlands failed by an 8-6 vote. Beaver's amendment would have provided "a general prohibition against conflict of interest" and would have covered the activities of all legislators in matters in which the state has an interest.

Munnell successfully opposed this amendment on the grounds that other legislation had already been introduced into the assembly similar to Beaver's amendment. The bill could "die if a lot of amendments are tacked on," he said.

A SECOND MUNNELL measure to provide open, competitive bids for all state insurance was also approved by the committee. However, opposition led by Donald Doyle of Lafayette was successful in amending the bill to exclude the toll bridge authority from the bill's competitive bid provisions.

DOYLE ASSAILED the original Munnell proposal as designed to "put the State of California into the insurance business."

Both Doyle and Beaver were on the list of those receiving state insurance commissions last year.

Builders Hear Guest Speaker

Construction and social problems in Central and South American cities was the theme of an address delivered by A. J. Mazurette to the Central Contra Costa County Builders' Exchange at their quarterly dinner Wednesday in Lafayette.

Mazurette, a Bay Area engineer and contractor who recently completed a special United Nations mission, noted that many construction opportunities exist in the Central and South American countries in spite of notable barriers to both foreign and domestic industry.

HE CITED A shortage of skilled workers, a shortage of materials, complex financing and language barriers as obstacles to widespread building activity.

Mazurette showed slides depicting multi-storied buildings in which the building material varied for each story. On the other hand, he said, construction in many cities is of excellent quality.

INDUSTRY REPORTS WERE read to guests and members by Fred Lowe, Vic Engel and H. Wachsmuth. Wachsmuth reviewed bills now pending in the state legislature that affect the building industry.

President Lowe noted that the Builders' Exchange is entering its fourth year of operation. The organization has successfully met its three year goals established in 1954, he said.

At the present rate of growth, Lowe claimed, the Builders' Exchange will exceed its fourth year goal by several months.

Walnut Creek attorney Harold Turner was named to the organization's board of directors.

By-Pass Will Mean Gains For Lafayette, Says Kahn

Parking came under discussion by Kahn also. He mentioned the need for work on the sidewalks, adequate lighting and back streets.

He cited Walnut Creek's Little Master Plan as a community effort to solve parking and traffic problems.

As a final point, Kahn suggested that with the primary commuter population that resides in Lafayette, it might be wise to consider changing the hours of store operation from the present 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. schedule to 10 a.m. to 7 p.m.

IN OTHER business before the members, committeemen Ted Stein and C. B. Sivan reported on the past year's division program and presented a treasurer's report, respectively.

Earle Pierce, president of the Lafayette Chamber of Commerce, who was in attendance at the meeting, expressed his offer of the fullest cooperation with the merchants' division.

"If anyone wants to accomplish something, we certainly will go along," said Pierce.

Jack Hageman, chairman of the parking committee, reviewed the work being done with the ideas of curbs, sidewalks, center strips and lighting beautification.

PLANS ARE in the hopper of the merchants' division for a By-Pass Festival for late May or early June, depending on completion date of the by-pass.

Division members also heard from committeemen Ed Goodman, who presented a proposed program for the merchants' division for the coming year, April 1957-April 1958.

Goodman told of plans for a "two-pronged attack" of institutional and promotional developments.

The attack has begun already, with bumper strips now being distributed to car owners. These phosphorescent strips will promote Lafayette on the highways and streets both day and night.

OTHER PROMOTIONAL plans call for envelope stuffers and billboards to be designed and executed.

Goodman also reviewed for members the list of merchandise events scheduled for the coming year.

Among these are a By-Pass Celebration, Red Carpet Days, Lafayette Birthday Celebration and a Christmas program for 1957, and Dollar Days and Spring Outdoor Show already projected for 1958.

Before the meeting closed, the chairman introduced to the members Pearl Bloom as new coordinator of the merchants' division.

Thief Confesses Local Robbery

A 22-year-old San Francisco youth has confessed to the theft last January of more than $250 worth of antique firearms and fishing equipment from the home of James M. Hutcheson Jr. at 3567 Silver Springs Road in Lafayette.

Detective Louis Skuce of the Contra Costa Sheriff's Office reported that the burglar was traced through the sale of one of the guns to a Lafayette service station attendant.

The confessed thief was apprehended in San Francisco, and pawn shop tickets in his possession led to the recovery of the Hutcheson property.

Principal's Mother Dies

Requiem Mass for Mrs. Hedwig Tucker, mother of Principal Martin A. Tucker of Lafayette, is being held at 9 a.m. last Saturday at St. Perpetua's Catholic Church, Lafayette. Interment followed at St. Joseph's Cemetery, San Pablo.

Mrs. Tucker, 83, died March 13 at the home of Principal Tucker at 928 Mountain View Drive, Lafayette, where she had been living for two months. She had a long illness.

Rosary was said at 9 o'clock last Friday night at the Chapel in the Valley, 985 Thomson Road, Lafayette.

A native of Illinois, Mrs. Tucker went to Livingston, Mont., where she lived for 60 years. Her husband, Patrick Thomas Tucker, had a large cattle ranch there until his death in 1936.

For the past 10 years Mrs. Tucker has been living in Southern California and the Bay Area. Survivors include five children—Martin A. Tucker of Lafayette, John T. Tucker of Oxnard, Mrs. Charles Ratkovich of Berkeley, Mrs. Nell Evans of Saratoga and Dennis Tucker of McPherson, Kans.

Also surviving her are a sister, Mrs. Sophie Wingate of Ventura, 11 grandchildren and 15 great-grandchildren.

Two More Apply For School Post

Two more names have been added to the list of persons filing application for a position on the Board of Trustees of the Lafayette School District.

The two new applicants are: Mrs. Comfort Scott of 729 Los Palos Drive and Mrs. Laura Eloise Birch of 977 Hawthorne Drive, both in Lafayette.

Final date for filing application for the board membership is April 17. The election will take place on May 17.

Term of service for the position will be three years, effective July 1, 1957.

The incumbent board member whose position will be vacant is Mrs. Elizabeth Freeman of 3905 Happy Valley Road, Lafayette.

Mrs. Freeman has served three consecutive terms on the board—a total of nine years, and is not filing for re-election.

2 School Posts Up for Election

Vacancies exist on the boards of trustees of two local school districts.

The expired term of Allen R. Crawford of Box 191, Canyon, is up for election to the Canyon School District board.

The expired term of John A. Sanders of Moraga must be filled in the Moraga School District.

At present the only application on file for the two posts is that of Crawford for re-election in Canyon.

Final date of application for the school positions is April 17. Elections will be held May 17.

The elected member will begin a three year term on July 1.

Mrs. Stanley 'On Mend' After Breaking Leg

Mrs. M. H. Stanley of 1200 Martino Lane, Lafayette, is recuperating at home from a broken right leg she sustained about five weeks ago in an accident in the orchard at the Stanley home.

Still using crutches, Mrs. Stanley has her leg in a cast from above the knee to and over the foot. Mr. Stanley said yesterday that a smaller cast, around the ankle, may be substituted in about a week.

The accident occurred when Mrs. Stanley was picking up twigs in the orchard. Her right foot sank in the mud, and she lost her balance and fell, breaking her leg just above the ankle.

She spent seven days at Alta Bates Hospital, Berkeley, and has been back home since then.

B of A Approves Plans for Local Branch Building

An investment of more than a quarter-million dollars has been approved for a permanent home for Bank of America in Lafayette. Manager Clifford B. Silvan said today.

Working drawings are being made for an air-conditioned, one-story structure to be located on property purchased last year on Mt. Diablo Boulevard two blocks east of the bank's temporary location.

"We anticipate that ground will be broken next summer and that by the spring of 1958 we will be serving our customers in one of the most modern and attractive bank structures in the East Bay area," Silvan said.

"It will be well over twice the size of our present quarters and will enable us to offer more services, including safe deposit boxes."

The manager said the more than a quarter-million the bank plans to invest will include both the cost of the land and the improvements.

He noted that the site, opposite Moraga Road and Plaza Way, will afford ample customer parking space and offer easy access to either automobile or foot traffic.

A new type of construction is contemplated involving "tilt-up" concrete walls. The walls are poured in sections on the ground and hoisted into vertical position by a crane. Concrete pilasters are poured to connect the wall sections.

The Lafayette office was opened by Silvan in June of last year. He said growth of business here made larger and permanent quarters imperative.

Radar Talk for WC Skywatchers

The second session of the special training for members of the Walnut Creek Ground Observer Post will continue through Thursday at 8 p.m. in Room 213, Las Lomas High School with Neil MacPherson of Stockton speaking on "Radar."

MacPherson has five years in the military service in intelligence in the China-Burma-India and Pacific Theaters. He was also an instructor in the Air Force Intelligence School at Lowry Field, Colorado.

He has a master's degree in Colorado State, has taught for four years in secondary schools and was a principal for two years in Montana before moving to Stockton. His talk will cover the operations, functions, and capabilities of radar.

WASTED ENERGY
Pumping an automobile accelerator pedal at a stop light is really wasting gasoline and money. Each time the accelerator is depressed, a charge of gasoline is squirted into the fuel intake manifold. The engine races unnecessarily and you go absolutely nowhere.

Benefit Affair Planned For Retarded Children

The third annual benefit dinner for retarded children of East Contra Costa County, sponsored by the Walnut Creek American Legion Post 115, will be held March 30, according to Commander Reggie Rice.

A family dinner at 7 p.m. will be followed by dancing at 9 p.m. in the Veteran's Memorial Building on Locust Street, Walnut Creek.

BOTH THE dinner and the dance are open to the public. Dinner tickets are $1. per person and 50 cents for children under 12 years. Dance tickets are $1. per couple. They may be obtained by calling Mrs. Attilio Squeri, MU 5-5120.

"A nationwide effort is being made to help the mentally handicapped, consisting of four million Americans—one million of them children," said Rice.

"In our own community a positive effort has been started through the pre-school program sponsored by the Council for the Retarded, East Contra Costa County, Inc.," he said.

"This non-profit organization is dedicated to the welfare of mentally retarded children, and purposes of the organization are to promote mutual understanding between friends and parents of the mentally retarded and the community that there be intelligent cooperation in the interest of these children," he added.

THE COUNCIL is a cooperative parents group that started three years ago with temporary school quarters in Walnut Creek, and now has to its credit Lynn School in Danville which accepts children from all of East Contra Costa.

The director, Winifred Johnston, has had many years experience working with mentally retarded children.

Officers of the organization are President Jack Clopton, Vice President Albert Blyth, Treasurer John Hirvela, Secretary, Mrs. George Stenmark, Corresponding Secretary Mrs. David Armstrong.

Local Red Cross Drive for Funds

Red Cross volunteers will continue their drive for funds and members through the month of March, Eldo T. Ewert, Mt. Diablo Chapter chairman said this week. Lafayette residents will be contacted by telephone and house-to-house calls in an attempt to reach the goal of $7500.

"On the Job When it Counts" has been chosen as campaign slogan this year.

Urging prompt and generous support to the current drive, Ewert pointed out that Mt. Diablo Chapter of Red Cross does not participate in the United Crusade and depends entirely upon local support of its annual fund drive.

An important program of the local chapter is Home Service, giving aid to veterans and their families in times of stress.

Other services supported include gray ladies, water safety, first aid, motor service, Junior Red Cross, and nursing services, in addition to its primary role as the official disaster organization of our country, as decreed by Congress.

Anyone who has not been contacted but who wishes to support the Red Cross is urged to mail his contribution to the chapter home, 1395 Ygnacio Avenue, Walnut Creek, Ewert said.

Vallecito PTA

Civil Defense was the main topic of discussion at a recent Vallecito PTA meeting.

Mrs. Eleanor R. Daly, Contra Costa County Civil Defense and Disaster Information and education coordinator, showed two films, "Escape Route" and "Let's Face It," and also spoke on survival planning.

She suggested that each one of us have 1) A Family Plan, 2) a knowledge of how to sustain life after attack happens, and 3) a regular car checkup so that it will be ready and safe for a hurried evacuation.

Mrs. Daly also suggested the need for a good neighborhood plan. She said many neighborhoods had requested help from the Civilian Defense office.

A course in Civilian Defense will be given to any interested group of 25 or more. Anyone interested contact the Civilian Defense Office.

Mrs. Grayliss Vossler, principal of Vallecito, told of the school's very detailed plan for evacuation. Mrs. Leigh Perlman, Education Chairman, next told of the benefits derived in the past from the Teachers Loan Fund, which Vallecito PTA originated and has been sponsoring for the past few years.

The meeting adjourned with refreshments served under the direction of the Hospitality Chairman, Mrs. J. J. van Loben Sels.

Girl Scouts Hold Court of Awards

Parents and friends of the Girl Scouts of Troop 128, Orinda, were guests at a Court of Awards last Friday evening held at the Boy Scout Cabin, Orinda Park Pool.

The color guard led the group as it marched in singing "Our Chalet Song." Following the flag ceremony the Girl Scout Promise was renewed and the Motto, Slogan and Girl Scout Laws given by individual scouts.

An original poem by Sue Dunshee preceded the investiture of new patrol leaders Joanna Larson and Sue Dunshee, and the troop sang a favorite song, "I Shall Not Be Moved."

PAM BRALY was presented with her second class rank, and badges were then awarded by the troop leaders to the following girls:

Joyce Bailey, Beverly Boyd, Pam Braly, Virginia Brunk, Susan Dunshee, Suanne Geandrot, Sandra Jones, Diane Kersten, Joanna Larson, Rosemary Loughman, Lynn Loveland, Carol Pedersen, Jill Rankin, Susan Schilling and Sharon Swedberg. Badges earned included: My Troop, Cyclist, Cook, Cat and Dog, Homemaker, Drawing and Painting, and Puppeteer.

FOLLOWING A SHORT intermission a puppet play, "Snow, White and the Seven Dwarfs," was given by Sandra Jones who had received her Puppeteer Badge earlier in the evening.

Assisting Sandra were Linda Mitchell, Suanne Geandrot, Teri Loveland and Carol Pedersen. Refreshments were served at the close of the play.

Troop leaders for Troop 128 include Carol Dunshee, Virginia Pedersen, Ruby Larson and Mary Loveland.

Around Acalanes...

TONIGHT'S THE NIGHT!

Tonight the junior class will give its second dance of the year, the annual "Junior Extra."

Plans for decorations have been kept secret, although juniors promise a swell time for everyone and encourage you to go from 8:30 to 11:30.

Seniors, anxious for their coming activities, are beginning preparations for their Senior Banquet on May 24 and also the Senior Ball on June 1.

Both of these occasions will be here before long, and in order to make them the most successful yet, help is needed from all seniors.

Seniors are also busily planning a ski trip exclusively for seniors. The trip is to be the first weekend of Easter vacation, April 12 to 14.

SENIOR PLAY

The seniors presented their class play, "I Remember Mama." Both nights the cast gave a fine presentation of the story about a Norwegian family living in San Francisco.

Each one of the cast members should be commended for a fine job.

Julie Dees, Phyllis Dail, Smed Amble, Cheryl Etzler, Allen Shapiro, Paul May, Fritz Bort, Dolores Koeschen, Priscilla Myers, Jill Pinkus, Elin Rasmussen, Susan Wasson, Kyla Houston, Lynne Henrietta, Bill Duebner and Biff Baker.

Aside from the actors there were a great number of people who contributed to the success of the production: Mr. Bert Trulsson, director; Norma Waddell, assistant director; Ann Hightower, librarian; Ann Sontag, ticket collector, and many more.

Following the Saturday night, March 9 presentation, those who worked on the play attended a party at the home of Allen Shapiro.

ASSEMBLY PLAY

Last week a group under the direction of Miss Mona McTaggart put on a one-act play for our assembly, "The Flattering Word" was extremely well done and very interesting.

Players in the production included Alan Hewitt, Pat Jackson, Judy Henderson and Grace Corse.

It seems that this is the time of year for actors and musicians to put their best foot forward. Still to come this month is the annual opera.

Under the direction of Mr. Richard Hansen, the Music Department will present "Brigadoon" next Thursday and Friday.

Once again you will have an opportunity to attend either of two nights.

"Brigadoon," a well-known show, is to have many students interested in music taking part in it.

You will be able to hear some of the same voices and musicians that did so well in the Christmas program.

Also to come yet this spring is the "Muscance," a production which will contain both music and dancers.

Orindans Entertain

Visiting Relative

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Fish of Orinda have been enjoying a visit of Mrs. Fish's mother, Mrs. L. R. Troll of Chicago, for the past few weeks.

Mrs. Troll has been busy seeing not only Orinda in the springtime, but also taking short trips to the city — enjoying the shops, China town and other interesting spots.

Next week they plan to motor to Carmel for an overnight stay and, on their return, stop for Marjorie Fish, who is enrolled as a freshman at Stanford University.

Jean Galbraith Initiated

By Delta Gamma

Jean Galbraith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Galbraith of 31 Charles Hill Circle in Orinda, was recently initiated into Delta Gamma sorority.

Brigadoon Set To Appear Here Next Week End

"Brigadoon"—that wonderfully illusive village—will be making its bicentennial appearance next Thursday and Friday nights at 8 p.m. in the Acalanes High School gym.

The fabled city of Broadway and Hollywood fame will be presented by students of the Acalanes High School music department under the direction of Richard Hansen.

One of the most successful musical comedies ever produced, "Brigadoon" features a host of good musical entertainment.

Written by the musical team of Lerner and Loewe, whose current "My Fair Lady," is breaking box office records, "Brigadoon" tells the story of two Americans in the Scottish Highlands who stumble upon an enchanted village.

The plot and its love interests provide a basis for the presentation of several hit songs including "Almost Like Being in Love" and "The Heather on the Hill."

The Acalanes "Brigadoon" features Ernest Fox, Ed Buttle, James Donham, Jo Ann Musante, William Blythe, Steve Ames, Jerry Gillivan, Leah May Wells, Diana Lee Neilson, Jon Woolridge, Kirk Barnett, Jeannette Smith, William Ward, James Gentry, Paul Athanson, Glen Christiansen, Kathy Wilson, Betty Clark Grace Corse and Judy Howes and a supporting cast of 30 players backed by the Acalanes High School orchestra.

Tickets will be sold at the door at each performance, $1.00 for adults, 75 cents for students. The general public is invited.

Assistant Fire Chief Alfred Baitz announced that the new station will be called the Rheem Valley Fire Station, in keeping with current practices of naming stations for the area which they serve.

Official dedication ceremonies will be held soon, according to District Fire Chief Gerald Gill, who is one of the original organizers of the fire protection district.

Did you ever see anything so beautiful as the green hills, especially when the sun shines on them?

Of course, that hasn't been often in recent days, but signs of spring are definitely here — trees are in bloom, weeds are shooting sky-high, and I even saw a robin several days ago. Back home, that alone was a sure indication that winter was on his way out.

Speaking of seasons, this must be the one for broken bones. Sam Carr, Manuel Neve's, Caroline Thune, Frank Sanders Sr., and Priscilla Devlin mention a few, in the past six weeks suffered major breaks and now have been joined by the junior set.

Legislature Should Pass Rapid Transit Measure

A visitor from Mars, watching and listening to certain arguments during recent weeks, might very well have had the impression that rapid transit is not the urgent need it has authoritatively been described to be.

In brief, these adverse arguments appeared to have as their purpose the negation of four years' hard work and careful planning by the Bay Area Rapid Transit Commission — work and planning done with the aid of engineers and financiers.

Stripped of excess verbiage, the objections to Senate Bill 850, now before the State Legislature, were mainly to the effect that the start of a nine-county rapid transit district as envisaged in that bill, would cost too much.

The objections were principally from San Francisco, San Mateo and Santa Clara Counties. The opponents were not against the general principle of rapid transit — but they quibbled and wanted to wait.

However, Alan K. Browne, chairman of the Bay Area Rapid Transit Commission, hit the nail on the head when, at the recent San Francisco hearing by the State Senate Interim Committee on Bay Area Rapid Transit, he said:

"We need a district in being — now — so that a final program can be arrived at and submitted for the approval or disapproval of voters. All we can do now is just talk about rapid transit."

And State Senator John F. McCarthy, chairman of the interim committee, pointed out:

"The important thing is to get the district created now so that engineering and planning can proceed on a firm, sound basis."

Major points of criticism against the proposal included possible use of a one per cent sales tax and the overall cost of the project — an estimated $850 million for the basic, 123-mile, first-stage system serving Contra Costa, Alameda, San Francisco, Marin and San Mateo Counties and a portion of Santa Clara County.

There were other objections, but those seemed to be the main ones.

Most of the objections seem to have been adequately answered, by Rapid Transit Commission spokesmen, notably Chairman Browne.

He pointed out that the district would be able to tax a minimum of only 5 cents per $100 assessed valuation during the first two years. That amount would be used for organizational purposes and to start engineering and planning studies, he said.

And even after the district would be placed on the tax rolls, an additional tax of no more than 10 cents per $100 assessed valuation could be added, he pointed out.

Use of sales tax or any substantial property tax couldn't happen until 10 or 11 years after creation of the district, he said.

Senator McCarthy stated at the hearing that he would propose that the one per cent sales tax be "frozen" into the bill so that it cannot be used until final engineering plans are made and costs are determined. Before the sales tax would be imposed, "voter approval of the necessary bond issue" would be required, he said.

Following the hearing, Senator McCarthy said he was "very optimistic" about the chances for Senate Bill 850.

More recent developments include reports that labor organizations are backing Senate Bill 850, and the request of Senator McCarthy that the Senate Transportation Committee schedule the measure for hearing April 2.

"Solano, Sonoma and Napa Counties wanted out of the nine-county district, and they are now amended out," McCarthy said, "and Santa Clara County will be deleted if it so desires."

It seems obvious to us that the Legislature should pass this bill, which would create a Bay Area Rapid Transit District for the six counties mentioned. Additions to the district could be made later.

City Councilman Bruce Michael of Fremont summed up the issue succinctly when he declared:

"The alternative to modern transit is complete chaos."

We suggest that you write to State Senator George Miller Jr. and Assemblyman Donald Doyle (both at Sacramento), urging them to work for and vote for Senate Bill 850.

What They Say...

We Tell The Kids, But--

Most people abide by the maxim that "Cleanliness is next to Godliness." They instill this attitude into their offspring with several daily admonitions to "Wash your hands" — "Brush your teeth" — "Take a bath" and "Don't put that dirty thing in your mouth."

Yet, residents of the unincorporated areas of this county have made no effort to see that food-handling establishments, such as restaurants, meat markets, groceries, abide by the laws of good sanitary practices.

This is not to suggest that they take their lives in their hands whenever they eat out or buy food at a market — far from it — but simply that they have neglected to insist through their local government that all food-handling establishments adhere to the codes established to maintain public health.

There hardly exists an incorporated area in the United States that doesn't have a department of food inspection. But there do exist areas like ours where the Public Health Department has no food inspectors.

Recently certain interested parties have begun making an effort to have a food inspection ordinance passed in the area. Following are the opinions of some of our residents on this question:

MRS. JAMES V. THOMPSON, 3357 Mildred Lane, Lafayette: "It sounds like a good idea. We take care to be clean in our homes, so we should see that they do the same thing in the restaurants."

JOSEPH D. DE COSTA, 2 Normandy Lane, Orinda: "My training has been in sanitary engineering, and I believe in taking every measure consistent with good sanitary practice. Some of the conditions in this county are not very satisfactory. This is a matter that county officials should have taken care of long ago."

MRS. GEORGE S. WORRELL, 84 Davis Road, Orinda: "I'm a firm believer in cleanliness. A thing like this would be a protective matter. I certainly would be in favor of anything that would protect the health of our families."

HAROLD T. JOHN, 1141 Robles Court, Lafayette: "It's true we need food inspection wherever food is handled. But if this is going to be one of those deals to hire ten or fifteen men on the county payroll, then it becomes a political football. We certainly should have food inspection, but it should be a carefully selected and maintained program."

MRS. MARTHA HEMMING, 23 Via Curatola, Walnut Creek: "I think that there should be very strict laws when it comes to the sanitation of public eating places."

MRS. K. L. FORSYTH, 746 Darline Drive, Pleasant Hill: "I have always thought that food places were inspected every so often, but I'm shocked that the county is just getting around to really doing some serious thinking about it."

Y. ALBERT FRANKLIN, 459 Berry Court, Walnut Creek: "People depend on sanitation laws when they go anywhere to eat. This should be a very important law and should have teeth to it."

MRS. ROBERT T. SPRAN, 879 Hillview Drive, Pleasant Hill: "All the eating places should be inspected at least once a month if not more often."

Cancer Society Launches Drive

"Fight Cancer With a Check-Up and a Check!"

Spurred on by this slogan, an army of Contra Costa County volunteers of the American Cancer Society stands ready to swing in to the 1957 Cancer campaign according to Contra Costa County campaign chairman Guy Spencer of Walnut Creek.

The drive will begin April 1, and last a month. "Our campaign slogan emphasizes the twin goals of our Crusade," Spencer said. "In addition to raising funds for cancer research, we will distribute educational literature about cancer which urges regular health examinations at least once a year."

California's share of a $30 million national fund-raising goal is $2,357,100 of which $50,000 is expected to be raised here. Spencer pointed out that the American Cancer Society will invest almost $8 million in cancer research projects this year. Many significant research projects are being carried out in California this year under the Society's sponsorship.

Mrs. Forest Hill, 46 Valencia Road, Orinda, has accepted chairmanship of the 1957 campaign in Orinda. She is a member of the Orinda Mothers Club and former program chairman of the Orinda Nursery School.

In Walnut Creek the drive will be headed by Mrs. Ernest J. Marchi of 17 Los Banos Court. She has formerly assisted with the March of Dimes campaign.

Farm Bureau Women to Hear CD Chairman

Danville and Concord's Oak Grove Farm Bureau Women will be luncheon and program hostesses for the Contra Costa County committee and group leaders at the Presbyterian Church, Danville, on April 5 at 4 a.m.

Mrs. Leslie Kerns of Danville and Mrs. George Fox of Concord will be chairmen.

Mrs. Harry Hobbs of Knightsen, county chairman, will preside. She will welcome as guest for the day Mrs. Joe Sousa, Modesto.

Dr. William F. Reed of Danville, head of civil defense for San Ramon Valley, will speak. Dr. Reed will be aided in his discussion by Mrs. Reed, an English war bride who survived the London blitz.

Farm Bureau Women will again prepare and serve the Contra Costa Farm Bureau Federation banquet on April 27 at the Concord Masonic Hall.

Mrs. Hobbs with Mrs. George W. Fox and Mrs. Dante Littorno of Concord will plan with the county Farm Bureau board of directors and with Gus Malmquist, banquet chairman.

Will Address Demo Women

Robert Schutz will be guest speaker at the Contra Costa Democratic Women's Club tomorrow, speaking on "Changing Issues in the Middle East."

The address will be preceded by cocktails at 6:30 p.m. and a potluck dinner at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. Nesbitt, 716 Rosewood Drive, Walnut Creek.

Executive director of KPFA radio station, Schutz is a professor at the University of California and is a well-known commentator on the "Men and Issues" program. Former residents of Pleasant Hill, Schutz and his wife, Marie, have many friends in the Diablo Valley area.

"This is the first of a series of public service, educational programs designed to keep the public aware of the political trends during the off-election year," said Mrs. David N. Bortin, newly elected president. "The Women's Club would like to extend an invitation to all interested people, both men and women, to attend this series," he added.

Those attending are asked to bring salad, casserole or dessert. Cocktails will be available. At a recent board meeting held at the Concord home of Mrs. Bortin, the following committee appointments were announced: Mrs. Richard Stansberry of Danville, research chairman; Mrs. Antonio Silva of Concord, parliamentarian and Mrs. Sallie Hoff of Pleasant Hill, publicity chairman.

Don't Quote Me, But...

Will Today's Teenagers Look Back Nostalgically?

By DOROTHY PATTERSON

Years ago, when I was just a little drip in the ocean of life, there were frequent occasions when Mammy's "girl" friends (hmmmm) would pat my little black head — devoid of tooth and curl — and make the heart-rendering comment, "Oh, to be young again!"

This always left me with the desire to be old and 40 like they were so that I could also go around hitting little kids on the head, because I always had a few lined up for just such an opportunity.

Nevertheless, few people ever make this comment anymore concerning retrogression, and after seeing in action a typical group of teenagers in the above-average-financially set, I am willing to wager that ere long the words will soon be entirely forgotten.

Scene: A neat ice cream parlor

It was a neat, respectable ice cream parlor to which the large group came to congregate during the school lunch hour and to order their soft drinks.

The pretty young girls wore voluminous skirts and flat shoes, and their shiny hair was worn in pony tails or a chic haircut. They were not gay and bubbly as in days of yore, but sophisticated to the very nth degree.

Such affectation in itself allows for no monkey business, least of all, hearty laughter. It just "isn't done."

Meticulous... and stoop-shouldered

The boys were meticulous. Their hair was still sopping wet and neatly combed — their postures, abominable... stoop-shouldered, and they walked as if their legs hurt, or a chic haircut. They were not gay and bubbly as in days of yore, but sophisticated to the very nth degree.

Though their shoes were beautifully shined, their faces, like the girls', were not bright and shiny reflecting the inner joys of innocent youth.

Instantly from both booths heavy clouds of cigarette smoke arose and did not dissipate until they left. At the girls' tables, the ash trays were filled to overflowing, and the napkins had overflowed to the floor.

These are the future housekeepers of the world — and if you think the world is a mess today — just you wait!

'Not like the good old days'

Both the boys and the girls affected a complete unawareness of the other.

Not like the good old days. We knew the boys were alive and we let them know it. Subtly, of course. If they liked you, it was fun playing hard-to-get. Not too hard-to-get because of the inevitable waiting line. We were not so intense then, and man, was it fun!

As usual, the big letter man arrived, surrounded by his admiring little flunkies.

All the little girls who tried to ignore him (while they touched up their lipstick behind their menus) had difficulty concealing a tremendous admiration that shone through in their eyes. To them, he was magnificent — pimple and all. Had they mentioned their convictions to him, I doubt that such news would have come as a great shock.

What about that looking-back day?

No, sir, the kids of today are missing a lot, and I doubt that any of them will someday say, "Oh, to be young again," for there will be nothing but bored sophistication to look back on.

Personally, I wouldn't want to be a teenager today — nope, not for all the "tea bags" at a benefit fashion show!

Deplore Lack Of Activity

John Osmundsen, Walnut Creek, the ups and downs of home building. President of the General Contractors Association of Contra Costa County, said today he is shocked to be equally concerned about "shocked" by the government's it.

Its own report that housing production in February fell to the lowest level since 1949.

"This alarming slump in new home production will have dangerous repercussions throughout the entire economy," Osmundsen said in a statement.

"The drop, unless reversed, can only lead to more unemployment and a general business decline," he declared. "The home building industry is one of the bulwarks of the Nation's economy."

"As it goes, so go so many of the allied industries — lumber, home appliances, television, paint, manufacturing, china ware — everything that goes into a home."

"This is a matter of concern — not just to the home builder, the construction worker and those employed in fields dependent upon home building — but to everyone. Their economic future is tied into

Letters to The Editor

TAKING A STAND

(Editor's note: See "Under the Sun" column, this page.)

Dear Editor:

After the election last November, you printed a "piece" concerning your failure to take a definite position in support of either of the two candidates for supervisor in the 2nd District; and you asked your readers to express their opinions on the matter.

I did not accept your challenge at that time because I was angry and disgusted, and I am sure that my opinion would have been largely discounted because of admitted bias.

Instead, I chose to do some research to find out what the authorities have to say about the question presented in this case.

William Allen White, editor of the Emporia Gazette, said that the editor "must take a stand in everything."

Arthur Robb wrote as follows in Editor and Publisher, July 20, 1940:

"We don't suggest that an editor go ramping around like a bull in a pasture, looking for fights over trivia, but we do declare that on a question of fundamental principle, a newspaper editor must decide what part of the white-gray-black spectrum is more white than black. And then he should act accordingly."

In the opinion of the New York Herald Tribune: "A neutral editorial page is a waste of space. It is as great a disservice to the reader to dissemble opinions as it is to distort news."

A. G. Waldrop (director of the College of Journalism at the University of Colorado) says that "inherent in the practice of taking a stand is another practice, that of being aggressive in asserting ideas. The editor as an advocate is not a Caspar Milquetoast."

I am disappointed in The Sun — the opportunity to do something constructive about good government in the county was within your reach — but you chose instead to be a do-nothing.

Since you actively supported Harry Brown in his campaign for sheriff two years ago, it cannot now be reasonably argued that The Sun made no choice in this election because of an established pattern of neutrality.

JAMES G. HUPP
15 Vallecito Lane,
Orinda.

RE: FLOOD CONTROL

Dear Editor:

In the March 8 issue of The Sun there was a news article about the Contra Costa County Flood Control District that I don't quite understand.

This district has been turned down twice by the public on rather large bond issues. They claim that they do not have sufficient funds to do the work required of them under the present tax limit of a total of 20 cents per $100.

However, they evidently have enough money to spend to hire an administrative assistant to District Engineer Carl C. Rich in order, as I gathered from the article, to lobby for the next bond issue they attempt to pass.

That is about the only thing that can really come under a full-time "public relations" job in that organization. Wouldn't it be wiser to spend that salary to clean creek channels?

If I UNDERSTAND the wording in the last paragraph — "Commissioners also approved a study of a program that would clear and maintain present drainage channels throughout the entire Flood Control District in this county" — the commissioners are just starting to do the job that we thought they were doing all the time, and which we obviously presumed they had done before they started making recommendations for bond issues to do this job.

It is indeed regrettable that the commissioners on this district are beyond the reach of the public — they are appointed by the supervisors and not elected by the people whose money they are spending.

Under The Sun

Should The Sun Endorse Candidates for Office?

By HERMAN SILVERMAN

To endorse candidates — or not to endorse? That was the question I posed in this column after last November's general election. It is a question our staff has discussed for many years. Until about three years ago, I thought I was certain of the correct policy. I have expressed it many times:

"Why should a newspaperman tell people how to vote? Why should editors recommend candidates — any more than lawyers, doctors or merchants? The Sun reserves the right to endorse candidates if and when a dangerous situation exists. (We have endorsed several times for this reason.) — But otherwise we will print statements and news of candidates and run a Battle Page during the campaign."

We have adhered to this policy but recently I have become less convinced it is correct. I now realize that newspapermen get a good, close look at candidates and elected public officials. We see the politicians in action, not only before elections but all year long. We get to know the men rather well. We know who is doing a sincere, honest, effective job. And we soon spot the phonies.

Here's what Sun staffers said

Should The Sun recommend candidates? Recently I polled four of our reporters and editors.

Each answered yes.

Norm Colby wrote in his memo, "I don't believe that a paper should take a stand for X or Y, when one is Tweedle-Dee-Dee and the other is Tweedle-Dee-Dum. This puts the paper in a false position, where it must create reasons or find some to the exclusion of others. But let's not avoid taking a stand where it is called for."

When two have equal merit...

This reminds me that several publishers at the recent newspaper convention in San Francisco stated that they would endorse two candidates if they were of equal merit.

News editors Bob Rapida and Dick Osborn suggested that staff members be given the opportunity to state their opinions on candidates. News Editor Julius Rosenthal voted yes.

Well, I know how our news staff members think on this subject. Meanwhile, we received the letter in the adjoining column. I don't think there is a need to point out that The Sun has a strong editorial policy. The letter is interesting in the light of our non-endorsing policy.

What do you think?

I have questioned prominent citizens for their advice. Most have declared that we should endorse.

What do you think? I would appreciate it very much if you will help us arrive at a decision.

Will you write a note or post card, addressed to me? Thank you in advance.

Contra Costans Working Hard for Easter Seals

Hundreds of Contra Costa residents have played key roles in the preparation for the Easter Seal campaign.

This five week campaign will assist the local Easter Seal Society to raise funds to maintain and promote greater services for the crippled.

Edward Munns, assisting Senator George Miller, campaign chairman, announced that volunteers have already devoted many one of the more than 1,650 affiliates of work toward this effort.

EASTER SEALS will be mailed to 96,000 homes according to Munns.

Preparation for the mailing was greatly facilitated by the Diablo Womens Club, supervised by Mrs. Dewey Huggard of Concord, and the Crestview Womens Club, directed by Mrs. C. J. Sly of Walnut Creek.

Their combined efforts accounted for the addressing of 45,000 envelopes. Through the work of the Volunteer Bureau of Walnut Creek, an additional 15,000 envelopes were addressed.

The Danville Junior Womens

Club assembled 35,000 envelopes and Easter Seals with the leadership of Mrs. Samuel Rockoff. The Walnut Creek Rebecca Lodge and the United Lutheran Women of the Shepherd of the Valley Lutheran Church of Orinda assembled 12,000 mailings.

THE CAMPAIGN is being conducted here by the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults of Contra Costa County, one of the more than 1,650 affiliates of the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults which are simultaneously conducting campaigns for crippled children in the 48 states, District of Columbia, Alaska, Hawaii and Puerto Rico.

Approximately 90 per cent of the funds raised during the annual Easter Seal campaign finances services within the state where raised.

The remainder goes to help support a national program of service, education and research. The Easter Seal Society nationwide has been serving the crippled for 36 years.

Panel Conducted On Homebuilding For Lafayette

Harold W. Smith of Orinda moderated a program at the General Contractors Association of Contra Costa County general membership dinner meeting March 14 on "How to Make Money in Home Building" at the El Nido Restaurant in Lafayette.

Panel participants were Jack Marchant of Lafayette, who spoke on "Subdividing—Its Hidden Costs and Problems"; Walt Klein of Walnut Creek on "Trade-in Houses"; Dick Thomssen, CPA, El Cerrito, on "Accounting, Its Application to Home Building"; and Harold Smith, who spoke on "Placing Your Completed Product in the Hands of a Real Estate Broker."

Association president John Osmundsen chaired the meeting.

Marchant pointed out that, although sewers or water lines may be adjacent to the property, this did not mean that a subdivider could tie in to the lines without charge. He suggested that the builders ascertain any protested charges for such tie-ins.

He stated that builders should check on easements that may

Thomssen told the homebuilders to keep close check on their cost items and on their production control when they are preparing lots for ultimate construction, and on the actual construction of the houses. "The homebuilder should be able to determine the costs incurred in construction at any date to assure that his actual costs are kept within a reasonable relationship to the estimated costs," he

Worsham-Pratt Nuptials Held Last Saturday

Judith Marie Worsham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Worsham of 3357 Woodland Way in Lafayette, was married last Saturday afternoon to Melville James Pratt of El Cerrito.

The nuptials took place at the Bethlehem Lutheran Church in Berkeley. Pastor Martin Engel conducted the ceremony, and Pastor F. W. Beottcher gave the address.

The bride wore a floor length gown fashioned of imported chantilly lace. The long torso bodice had short sleeves and an overlapped sweetheart neckline. The skirt of the gown was very full, with a tulle underskirt.

She wore a Juliet cap which was scalloped around the front, trimmed with a row of tiny pearls, and held an elbow length veil of French illusion veiling. Her gloves were short white ones, and a tiny pearl choker encircled her neck.

She carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley and white hyacinths in a spray effect.

Miss Worsham was attended by her sister, Barbara, as maid of honor, and two bridesmaids: Margaret McKee and Mrs. De- anna Van Buskirk, both of Berke- ley.

The new Mrs. Pratt is a grad- uate of Acalanes High School, where she was a member of the A Capella choir.

Upon graduation from high school, she entered Armstrong Business College for one year. She has been working as a secretary at the main Berkeley branch of the Bank of America.

The groom, a graduate of El Cerrito High School and Arm- strong Business College, is a sales trainee for U. S. Gypsum Company in Oakland.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Orinda Country Club, which was decorated with white and pink flowers for the occasion. Over 300 guests were in attendance.

The newlyweds had a family dinner at International Airport prior to their flight to Hawaii where they are honeymooning for 11 days at the new Hawaiian Village Hotel.

A set of By-Laws was presented and accepted. A nominating committee has Mesdames Stanley Viscia, Ralph Marks, William Forrest, L. Cole and G. Fair- bairn. These ladies will meet soon to accept nominations for regular officers.

Mrs. Charles Sears of Concord was appointed Good and Welfare chairman and Mrs. Vincent L. Sneeringer of Danville was appointed chairman of the Ways and Means committee.

The door prize was won by Mrs. Eugene A. Cherry of Lafayette. Mrs. Warren E. Martens and Mrs. Sam Harris assisted Mrs. McCauley as hostesses for the evening.

The next meeting of the organization will be held April 9 at the home of Mrs. Eugene A. Cherry, 3227 Andreasen Drive, Lafayette.

Diablo PTA's Want Better Laws for Food Inspection

A request for passage of an ordinance providing for regular and frequent inspection of "premises and personnel of all restaurants, food processors and vendors operating in this county" has been forwarded to the Board of Supervisors by the Mt. Diablo Council of Parent-Teacher Associations.

In a recent meeting at the Concord Recreation Center, the council also prepared a recommendation concerning widths of minor streets and walkways in subdivisions, and elected officers.

The food inspection request went in the form of a letter by Mrs. Dwight Birch of Lafayette, public welfare director.

IN AN EFFORT to provide pedestrian safety away from the traveled pavement, recommendations for the Subdivision Ordinance included increasing paved widths of minor streets by 4 feet and planning walkways in subdivisions with lot sizes up to 22,000 sq. ft. where lot widths are not in excess of 100 feet.

As lot sizes increase, it was suggested that a paved street widths could be decreased to make walkways economically feasible.

Publicizing the county ordinance restricting plantings, which block a pedestrian walkway along a county right-of-way, stabilizing the width of shoulders along traveled pavement when there is no sidewalk for pedestrians, and to encourage in large-scale developments the placing of homes and elementary schools on the same side of the highway, cul de sacs, "T" streets, and limited access streets to the highway were also included in the recommendation. A trial program for county arterial highways to mark the edge of the roadway where it joins the shoulder with a white line narrower than the center stripe as a zone for pedestrians completed the recommendation made by Mrs. L. Hawkins Jr. of Lafayette, safety chairman.

It will be sent to Victor Sauer, director of Public Works of Contra Costa County, and Mark Kermit, traffic engineer.

The new officers of Mt. Diablo PTA's are: Thomas H. Hazlett of Walnut Creek, re-elected president; Allan Fuller of Walnut Creek, first vice president; Gordon Hommer of Concord, second vice president; Major West of Pleasant Hill, third vice president; Robert Cahill of Concord, fourth vice president; N. L. Hawkins Jr. of Lafayette, fifth vice president.

J. F. Groene of Concord, recording secretary; Ralph Martin of Walnut Creek, corresponding secretary; Everett Prewitt of Concord, financial secretary; Milton Wood of Concord, treasurer; Louis Pitt of Walnut Creek, historian; and Mr. Dean Gaudette of Concord, auditor.

Shoras Now County Head Of Chapter

James P. Shoras of Concord was elected chairman of the Contra Costa County Chapter, National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, at the chapter's annual meeting recently at Danny Van Allen's Restaurant, Lafayette.

Shoras, who served as vice chairman of the chapter last year, replaces Don Blackwood of Lafayette, whose term of office as chairman has just expired.

Vernon Weill of Richmond was elected to the chapter vice-chairmanship, and Santo Cimino, manager of the Bank of America in Pittsburg, was re-elected treasurer of the chapter. Mrs. Alline Macomber of Martinez was voted confirmation of her position as executive secretary.

GEORGE W. ELY of Lafayette was elected to serve on the executive committee of the chapter—the only new board member. Eight other executive committee members were re-elected for another term.

They are Mrs. Lance Barden, Orinda; Mrs. Edward Boyle, Antioch; Arnold Irwin and Philip Johnson, both of Richmond; Gundard Rinsel, Brentwood; Mrs. John Selley, Walnut Creek; Mrs. Jean Taylor, Martinez; and Wilmer White, Oakley.

The principal speaker at the meeting was Dr. Gerald G. Hirschberg, a specialist in physical medicine and rehabilitation, and Chief of Rehabilitation at Fairmont Respiratory Center, Highland Hospital, Contra Costa County Hospital in Martinez and Letterman General Hospital in San Francisco.

DR. HIRSCHBERG described the newest treatment available to save lives of patients whose breathing muscles are paralyzed and to prevent the deformities which are the aftermath of paralytic polio.

Dr. Hirschberg declared that it is premature to say the polio problem is solved until every man, woman and child is vaccinated, there are no new cases of polio, and all polio victims have been given all the help possible in their rehabilitation. He estimated this would take at least ten years, probably a little longer.

"Rehabilitation of persons stricken by paralytic polio generally takes at least two years; it is more likely to be five," Dr. Hirschberg said. "Children, especially, need to be watched closely after an attack of polio. It may take 15 or 20 years for complete rehabilitation of children who suffer severe cases of polio."

Dr. Hirschberg cited Contra Costa County for the excellent care given polio patients here, by institutions and private physicians.

HE SHOWED color slides of patients during rehabilitation, illustrating the difference between new treatments used in this county and older, less effective methods.

John Sheridan, chairman of the Contra Costa County March of Dimes, thanked the drive's chairman and workers for what he termed "an excellent job and a real service to their communities," adding that special events are still being held to raise funds in many areas, therefore a complete report of March of Dimes results cannot yet be given.

Don Blackwood, retiring chairman of the Contra Costa County Chapter, National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, said the chapter has already joined in the Foundation's nationwide program to promote universal protection against polio by use of the Salk vaccine.

He stated the chapter is cooperating with the Contra Costa County Health Department to make vaccine available to everyone, and to set up clinics throughout the county to administer the three inoculations necessary for complete immunity to polio.

The nominating committee was elected as follows: Mesdames Melvin Melnicoe, Frank Aiman, Irving Kraemer, Sherman Lee and Bobbie Colleen.

Mrs. T. W. Marsten, juvenile protection chairman, announced a tour of Juvenile Hall has been scheduled for April by the district.

Light Fare to be Summer Menu

Plans for a unique summertime theater-in-the-round currently have The Dramateurs working overtime making arrangements for the two or three plays to be presented in Lafayette's Town Hall.

President Alice Swenning announced recently, after a meeting to formulate plans for the summertime theater, that try-out dates for the productions would soon be set and revealed.

Light fare is the usual menu for summertime theater-goers, and The Dramateurs do not intend to break the tradition. Director Carl Rasmussen reports that several interesting plays are being considered.

Women's Club Plants Trees

Members of the Crest View Junior Woman's Club of Pleasant Hill donated garden gloves, grabbed trowels and spades and filled the brick planter at the entranceway to the Pleasant Hill Park with plants and shrubs.

These green thumbs also planted a hawthorne near a spectator area to afford a maximum of shade in a short period.

Working on this project were Conservation chairman Mrs. Francis Adair, and Mesdames Gilbert Lazzareschi, Thomas Burnes, Jack E. Corder and M. C. DeWeerd. Also present at the planting was Mike Kelly of the Recreation District.

These young women recently presented the Recreation District with a $200 check for equipment for the proposed Tiny Tot Lot at Gregory Lane Park.

Polio Shots Offered at Clinic to All Adults

Contra Costa's of all ages crowded the county's polio clinics set up in Pittsburg, Richmond and Pleasant Hill last Saturday as the county-wide drive against polio continued.

Dr. H. L. Blum, County health officer, said more than 17,000 persons have reported for the Salk vaccine inoculations since the middle of February when the local health department started its campaign to wipe out crippling polio, a costly and tragic disease.

IN ADDITION to the special special Polio clinics held for the residents of Concord, Walnut Creek, Pleasant Hill, Lafayette and Danville areas every Saturday morning from 9 to 12 noon and every Thursday evening from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Health Department office, 3241 North Main Street, Pleasant Hill, a routinely scheduled clinic is held the last Wednesday of every month at the Episcopal Church in Walnut Creek.

This month the clinic will be held next Wednesday from 1-4 p.m. and in addition to polio shots immunizations against diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus will be offered children.

EVERYONE 40 YEARS of age and under, particularly those who are around children, is urged to get their polio shots now before the summer polio season begins.

Since attendance at the monthly immunization clinic is light it is recommended that as many as possible attend this clinic and avoid the large crowds at the weekly clinics.

Acalanes Dons Trounce St. Helena, 12-1

Local Players Spurt Follows Early-Game Tie

The Acalanes Dons racked St. Helena in a baseball game March 14 by a 12-1 score.

The game, played at St. Helena, found the Dons tied 1-1 at the end of two innings of play, but they took a 2-1 lead when they scored in the third.

They were never to be headed, as they tallied two runs in the fourth, one in the fifth, five in the sixth and two in the eighth, while holding the home club scoreless.

THE DONS had 12 hits, to the losers' four.

Shortstop Gary Hamen had two hits in four tries at bat, to pace the Don hitters.

Mac Waddell started on the mound for Acalanes. He was relieved by Mike Kritscher in the second. Kritscher was relieved by Steve Jordan in the sixth.

FOR ST. HELENA the battery was Herod, Amaya (7) and Vasconi.

The Dons had one error, to four by St. Helena.

Ram Baseballers Hogtie Cowboys In 5-1 Victory

March 13 proved to be a lucky day for the Pleasant Hill Rams as they played a good brand of ball to whip the Livermore Cowboys, 5-1.

Al Locatelli started on the mound for the Rams and set the visitors down in fine fashion with a shut out for the three frames he worked.

The Rams offensive got off to a good start also. They clubbed out three runs in the opening inning and added single scores in the third and sixth to cinch the win.

Mike Cereda took over the mound chores for Pleasant Hill in the fourth and fifth innings, allowing Livermore's single run in the fourth.

Mike Mayne finished the two final innings in the box for the Rams, shutting out the visitors. George Adams and McCay split the catching job.

Stick-wisely the Rams collected a total of seven safeties, being contributed by seven different batters.

Ray Damerall's three-bagger was the long blow for the day.

'High Ground' Dramateur Play Opens Tonight

The 8:30 curtain will go up to night on the Dramateurs' opening performance of "High Ground," an English suspense drama by Charlotte Hastings, being presented at the Berkeley Little Theater, which has been the scene of many Dramateur past successes.

The story concerns a young British woman, talented and gentle, who has been accused and convicted of murdering her wretched brother.

On her way to the penitentiary and the death house, in the company of her two warders, the three are forced to seek refuge from a torrential rain and flood at the Convent of Our Lady of Rheims, which is the only spot in that area on "High Ground."

Sister Mary Bonaventura, matron of the convent hospital, believes in her innocence and sets about to not only prove it but also succeeds in putting her finger on the true murderer.

BETTY REYNOLDS, who will be remembered for her many past successful portrayals, plays Sarah Carn, the convicted artist.

Rosemary Dunning, a new member of the Dramateurs, brings great talent and experience to her portrayal of Sister Mary Bonaventura.

James Harris enacts Dr. Jeffreys, the staff physician at the convent hospital, and Bob Flaherty, also a new talent with the group, portrays Willy Penbridge, the morose "jack-of-all-trades."

Grace Duffy as Sister Josephine and Charlotte Chapple as Willy's mother, Martha Penbridge, lend amusing characterizations which lift the story out of the morbid.

Others in the cast are Beth Culp as Mother Superior, Katie Genesey as Nurse Phillips, Norma Jean Walkley as Nurse Brent, Arthur Dunning as Melling and Mary Toich as Miss Pierce.

CARL RASMUSSEN is director and stage designer of the production, with Charlotte Chapple again lending her talents as art director. Norma Betz has the important job of production coordinator, with Jewel Scheeline in charge of costumes.

Kaye Thomas, ticket chairman, reports a larger advance sale of tickets for this production than ever before. Seats are not reserved, so it behooves those who do not already have tickets from Dramateur members to purchase their tickets early at the box office, well in advance of the 8:30 curtain time.

Opening night will be followed by performances tomorrow night and Friday and Saturday of next weekend, March 29 and 30. Admission is $1.50.

RADIO SETS IN CARS

Dons Season Opens Well; Beat Wolves

The Acalanes track team finally got a break from the weather man and had their first outside competition when they met up with the San Ramon Wolves on the Acalanes oval last Monday afternoon.

The Don varsity posted a grand total of 84 2/3 points to squish San Ramon who came up with 28 1/3 points.

Ernie Fox was a two-time winner for the Dons as he took the 120-yard high hurdles in 15.3 and the 180-yard tape in the 180-yard low hurdles in 21.2.

Larry Pilcher took the broad jump with a leap of 20' 4 1/2" and topped his favorite event, the copper-mile, in :52.6.

Rick Davis took the field in the 100-yd. dash, running the event in 10.5, then tied for first with San Ramon's Bill McMillin in the 220 with 23.1 race.

The Dons swept every first place but one, with John Ladwell copping the shot put with a good heave of 48' 10", Frank Malynn tossing the discus 126' 8", Brett Merner winning the high jump at 5' 7 3/4", while George Hearne, Mike Letone and Dave Williamson were tying for first in the pole vault at 11' 4" and Mike Wood out-distanced the field in the 880 with a 2:08.4.

San Ramon's lone first came with a brilliant early season performance by Ralph Dearlove, who stopped the clocks at 4:49.8 in the mile run.

In the Bee meet, San Ramon came through 63-50.

Smith was top scorer for the Dons as he took a first in the shot put with a 45' 7" put and then nailed down a first in the discus with a mark of 111'.

Leo MacFarlane was the Don's only other winner as he took the 1320 in 3:34.9, exceptionally fast for early in the season.

Jose Greco Will Appear in SF

Jose Greco, who will appear with his celebrated Spanish Dancers at the Opera House in San Francisco next Friday evening, is not only one of the finest in person attractions in the United States today, both in concert halls, theaters and nightclubs, but also a very bright motion picture personality.

Most recently he appeared in Mike Todd's "Around the World in 80 Days" (currently at the Coronet) which has been hailed as one of the greatest shows on film ever produced. Greco appears in a magnificent dance sequence which is one of the show's highlights.

In the past, he had been in many European movies and starred opposite Cyd Charisse in "The Bullfighter and the Lady," his first American picture. He recently returned from a triumphant European tour.

Tickets for his San Francisco concert, sponsored by the California Civic Music and Arts Foundation, are now available at Sherman Clay and all agencies.

Gracie Fields In Last Tour

Gracie Fields, known to many as the Queen of the English music hall stage, will appear at the Opera House tonight, and at the Berkeley Community Theater tomorrow as part of her current "farewell tour."

Miss Fields has one of the most unusual voice ranges of any great artist. With ease she reaches an E below middle C and the third E above middle C. Such ability permits her to sing a classic such as "Madame Butterfly" and then swing into one of her typical comedy songs such as "I Never Cried So Much in all my Life."

Her repertoire consists of over 500 songs covering the complete musical field. Her program always varies from comic caricatures in song to more serious selections drawn from her vast repertoire.

Tickets are now on sale at Sherman Clay and all agencies.

Matador Thinclads Meet Las Lomas This Afternoon

The Matador trackmen hoped to get into action last Friday when they had a meet set with the Pacific Spartans.

But the rain took over and washed all plans down the drain.

The Matadors hope to make their 1957 debut this afternoon when they meet up with the Las Lomas Knights on the Walnut Creek oval in a varsity and Bee meet.

Several frosh are on the J.V. club and show promise of winning starting spots before the season is over.

The J.V. club has a host of lettermen up from last year's frosh.

Tops at the initial sack are Vic Johnson and Bob Anthonisen.

Bob Ellermeyer looks good at second, while Randy Young holds forth at shortstop.

Young looks good at the plate, and has a good arm for the long throw.

Over third base way it's Bob Hudson and Gordon Hightower. Both have shown to advantage their defensive play, but need more work at the plate.

Outfielders Clint Danna, Ron Brown and George Fraser are a trio of sophomores who could provide an offensive punch at the plate.

Butch Guannan, Brad Olsen, Feldman, Hancock and Mike Acto are frosh who figure to have a good chance of making the grade on the J.V. squad.

Mark Littlejohn and Brian Collins are battling it out for the catching spot.

In the 1320, Coach Bob Callan has a good pair in Gene Gilligan and Mill Howe, who have both run the event in 3:35.

St. Mary's Star Finishes Career With 6 Records

Odell Johnson ended his two years of varsity basketball at St. Mary's with six school scoring records, final statistics showed today.

The two-time All-CBA and Northern California selection scored 413 points in 26 games this season to become the second player in St. Mary's history to break the 400 mark two seasons in succession. The other was Frank "Apples" Kudekela.

Johnson's varsity career total of 851 points also placed him fourth among the all-time Gael scorers.

Among the record breaking marks Johnson set this year and last for a season (.563) best free throw percentage, season (.818) most free throws, season (175) and most points, single game (40).

Soph star LeRoy Doss set a new rebound mark with 241, and finished second to Johnson in the year's scoring with 384 points.

Costly Errors Tell the Story As Dons Lose

The Acalanes Dons came close, but not close enough for a win, as they lost to the Livermore Cowboys at Acalanes last Tuesday afternoon, 5-4.

The Dons displayed little form as they bobbed and bungled their way to the loss, compiling seven errors in the process.

The story was pretty well told in the second inning when Livermore crossed home plate with three runs on a pair of hits and a pair of Acalanes errors.

The Dons came back with a pair of runs of their own, but fell short as they trailed 4-2 at the end of the fifth inning.

They got a life in the sixth when first baseman Jim Dinkel walked and Rich Markstein, third baseman, singled to put two on base. Gary Hansen advanced the runners with a well-executed bunt, and Gene Vincent, second baseman, drew a walk to bulge the bats.

Catcher Dave Bojarsky then singled to drive in the two tying runs.

It all went for vain, however, as in the seventh Livermore shortstop Gary Armstrong got on via an error, wound up on second, went to third on an overthrow in an attempted pick-off, and then came home when Don center-fielder overthrew third.

That proved to be the old ball game as the Dons failed to score in the bottom half of the seventh.

The Dons out hit the visitors, 6-5, but the score in the run column was 5-4 in Livermore's favor.

In the error column, it was Acalanes 7-1.

Third baseman Rich Markstein, with a pair of singles in three trips to the plate, was the top Don stickler.

Mac Waddell pitched the first 1 1/2 innings and was relieved by Mike Kritscher who took over in the second and worked through the fourth, when Steve Jordan took over.

Jack Connors caught the first three innings for the Dons, with Dave Bojarsky going the final four frames.

For the Livermore nine it was Jess Garcia on the mound for six innings, with Mike Raben hurling the final frame. Behind the mask for the entire contest was Stocks.

Brad Olsen's power hitting and good fielding, flanked by Butch Guannan and Don McMacken, provides a strong outfield.

Dave Rhoda stands out at shortstop with his excellent fielding.

Spring Sports Outcomes May Be Anyone's Guess

By ERWIN MATTSON

NEXT WEEK FINDS league play in baseball, tennis, and golf getting under way for the prep.

At this point it is pretty much of a haphazard guess as to who has what, in view of a limited of practice season, due to the rains.

One new interest angle will be added to the spring sports season as Dots Sports Award will recognize the outstanding athlete of the week in the local area.

The athlete will be picked on the basis of performance for each week.

To pick the outstanding one will pose some problems and will probably never result in complete agreement — but at least it will provide a topic for discussion, if not argument.

BASEBALL SEASON IS HERE, and with it comes youth baseball. Signups are in the offing, and chances are that more than ever will be taking part.

One of the big jobs is getting adequate and sufficient adult leadership. Anyone interested should come forward as meetings are announced.

It is time-consuming in many ways, but has lots of rewards in others.

It is a chance to do something of a positive nature for youth, and that in itself is a reward.

Sponsors are also needed, and, while the cost is modest, it is a necessary item in this day when nothing comes free.
